

Robert Repino's pocket protector not only protects his pocket, it also attacks other people's unprotected pockets.

Robert Repino ate his twin in the womb, disgorged the body after he was born, and reconstructed his brother as a cyborg.

Robert Repino earned a million dollars just so he could carry it around town, in cash, in a nondescript duffel bag.

Robert Repino works on an urban farm, where his job is to milk the rats and harvest the weeds from the pavement cracks.

Robert Repino lost his infant daughter in a supermarket. She turned up on Ed McMahon's Star Search as the famous singing orphan.

Robert Repino fell into the mouth of a volcano and resurfaced in the Vatican, thanks to hell's efficient subway system.

Robert Repino has a new catchphrase: "I will never break into your car and sleep there for a month without showering again."